Motivational Interviewing

Two Day Intensive Introduction to Motivational Interviewing

ISDH

Irish Society for Disability & Oral Health

Background

2 Day Intensive Introduction to Motivational Interviewing

Presented by the Dublin Dental University Hospital and the Irish Society of Disability and Oral Health

This intensive introductory two-day session provides a meaningful overview of MI using the Monarch System’s unique approach which integrates MI with other impactful behaviour change practices such as coaching methods and key elements of behaviour change theories and applications. Most importantly, we will explore and help you to acquire applied techniques to use with your clients in your day-to-day practice.

You will learn how to build motivation and transition that enhanced motivation into a strengthened and real commitment to healthier behaviours.

Numerous practice and feedback opportunities are integrated into the workshop to support the immediate integration of new tools within participants’ practice lives.

This training is provided by Dr. Don Morrow and Dr. Jennifer Irwin of Monarch System. Don holds a PhD in the Health Sciences and Jen is a health behaviourist. Both are certified professional coaches trained and accredited with both the Coaches Training Institute and the International Coach Federation.

Don and Jen are published authors, workshop facilitators, award winning researchers and University Professors.

“What we offer are compelling, collaborative, and dynamic workshops and presentations on how to motivate people to make significant behavioural changes in their lives. Our workshops are geared toward health professionals and groups interacting on the front line with clients or patients”
